PHOTO	 An aerial black and white photograph showing a village built on a hillside. In the foreground, a large, multi-towered stone building, likely a castle or chateau, is surrounded by trees. Behind it, a church with a prominent steeple is visible. The rest of the village consists of smaller houses with gabled roofs, clustered together. The background shows a valley with fields and more distant buildings. A small signature or logo is visible in the bottom right corner of the photo.
